Problem:

Cannabis company sought quality flooring solutions for both back-of-house and front-of-house spaces

Product Solution:

Stoncrete EFX & Stonclad GS

Scope of work:

Offices and customer-facing areas; cannabis production spaces

A California-based cannabis manufacturing facility that specializes in the extraction, filling, and distribution of cannabis cartridge products, needed a flooring solution for their state-of-the-art 10,000 sq.ft. facility. This business takes pride in the quality of its product, and they wanted no less for their floors.

After examining the concrete slab and considering the customer's goals, Stonhard recommended Stoncrete EFX for their lobby, offices, and retail areas. Stoncrete EFX is troweled epoxy mortar flooring system developed specifically for commercial spaces. With a wide range of decorative aggregate options, Stoncrete EFX has the look of polished concrete with more durability and performance. Stoncrete EFX can be quickly installed either as a new floor or over existing floors.

In the extraction and cartridge filling areas, Stonhard installed Stonclad GS. This troweled epoxy mortar system provides superior impact, abrasion, and chemical resistance to meet the many demands of heavy-duty environments. Stonhard's Stonkote GS4, a protective epoxy coating, was applied over Stonclad GS to provide added abrasion and chemical resistance as well as to improve cleanability.

Stonhard floors are formulated to perform and protect in many areas, especially those with heavy traffic. By choosing Stonhard, this cannabis company had the advantage of working with one company who both manufactured and installed floors for their front-of-house spaces, as well as the industrial production areas.
